Goldmine Natural Foods began as a small family business in a gold mining town in the mountains, but they quickly outgrew their cabin and moved the business to San Diego. Founded by Jean Richardson with the intention to share the healing power of foods, Goldmine was originally a mail-order company in the 1980s. Goldmine Natural Foods can now be found in stores across the country, and provide the highest quality heirloom grains, beans and seeds along with importing the highly sought after Ohsawa brand of products from Japan.
