SELEY RANCH

Organic Borrego Springs Farm

Seley Ranch is a family-owned citrus orchard located in Southern California's Anza-Borrego Valley. Founded in 1957 by the late Hal Seley, the family is now entering its fourth generation of growers, and a half-century of family farming. Located just outside the largest state park in the nation, the Anza-Borrego Valley provides some of the nation's most impressive natural desert terrain, as well as the ideal growing conditions for citrus.

They are best known for their "Seley Reds" brand, a Marsh Ruby Red grapefruit. The orchard also produces a wide variety of grapefruit, tangerines, lemons and Valencia oranges. Seley Ranch is continually mindful and committed to producing organic citrus of the best quality, while maintaining the utmost respect to the environment.
