Solman Wheatgrass is a one acre farm located in Leucadia owned and operated by Mark Bakula. Mark uses rich compost nourished in redwood bins which provide the right moisture and air to aid microorganism growth. Mark points to this healthy compost as to why people say that his wheatgrass looks and tastes better than others on the market. The organic farm’s mission is to deliver the freshest food nature has to offer!